

IN LENTEN SEASON

Society Events are of the Sedate Order.

RECEPTIONS ARE THE RULE

Gay Balls and Routs Give Place to Them.
Last Week's Entertainment—A Young Man's Memento.

The ladies in a certain social circle are quietly laughing over a little episode which occurred at a recent afternoon party. All the ladies were one and the same, the tables were set, the cards were distributed and the players were ready to begin, when the door bell rang. Everyone prepared to welcome the belated guest, but their surprise can be imagined when a young man, a friend of the hostess, bowed his way into the room. He had no knowledge of the party, but had come simply for a friendly call. Having made his bow, and feeling the fascinating enticements from so many bright eyes, he was loath to leave. He was the last of the party, particularly as the hostess and her feminine guests persisted in the belief that he was the missing lady. He took his seat at the table and played through the afternoon, a lone, solitary bachelor in a company of thirty-five ladies, each of whom avowed that he was a most desirable addition. This young man, though he enjoyed himself awfully, is seriously considering the advisability of announcing his name by telephone hereafter.

Lent, the season of rest and quiet, has arrived and there will be an appreciable difference, more in the nature than in the number, of the entertainments given. There will be no more grand balls, brilliant receptions or other large social events, but the cozy afternoon tea, the jolly afternoon party and the little club party will be given as usual. At one time the advent of Lent meant a total cessation of all forms of social enjoyment, but this is no longer. There must be a proper observance of religious duties. Therefore there is no objection to the enjoyment of the small social gatherings.

Dainty and Beautiful.
Mrs. Cassius Sweet, of No. 17 South Lafayette street, gave a beautiful pink reception Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. The parlor mantels and mirrors were banked with drooping ferns and palms, brightened with pretty pink primroses. The dining room was beautifully adorned with carnations, shading from palest pink to the deepest tint of the color, combined with maiden hair ferns. Four candlesticks with pink wax candles and pink shades lighted the table, and from the chandelier to each corner of the table a spray of white roses was draped, dotted with pink carnations and maiden hair ferns. The napkins were folded square and upon each one was pinned a bouquet of pink carnations and a spray of fern. Pink cherries were served with the white cream on pink china plates and the table center was frosted with pink. Dainty glasses of ice dotted with carnations and ferns barred the doors between the dining room and parlors and the hall and parlors.

Misses Wooster and Calkins gave the bars open for the guests to pass in and out and after her husband, Mrs. J. C. McKee, received. They were assisted in the parlors by Mrs. O. M. Palmer, Mrs. Dr. R. H. Stevens, Mrs. D. P. Clay, Mrs. Lamoreaux and Mrs. E. A. Moseley. Misses Louise Wooster, Anna Calkins, Gertrude Smith, Sarah Smith and Ethel Calkins assisted in the dining room. Mrs. McKee wore pink crepe, and carried a bouquet of white hyacinths. Mrs. McKee wore white crepe and carried white carnations. Mrs. Palmer wore a dress of rose silk with jeweled trimming. Mrs. Dr. Stevens wore a dress of white crepe with black lace with a border of drooping white flowers. Mrs. Clay wore a pearl gray silk. Miss Louise Wooster wore a pearl gray pattern gown, with raised embroidery in cream white. Miss Calkins wore pale blue and Miss Ethel Calkins, Gertrude and Sarah Smith wore light evening dresses. About three hundred invitations were issued and those who attended pronounced it one of the most charming receptions of the season.

Her Coming Out.
Mrs. S. B. Jenks of Washington street, opened her handsome home Tuesday from 2 to 6 o'clock for her daughter, Miss Gertrude, coming out. The parlors were pretty with artistic clusters of white hyacinths and a profusion of smiles. Upon a table by Miss Jenks were the flowers sent to the fair debutante by her friends, who are many. The flowers were of great variety and beauty. There were green lily lamps and in the dining room a massive bank of snow white hyacinths outlined in green smilax graced the center of the table with green fairy lamps. The refreshments were dainty to the eye as well as to the organs of taste. There was white cream with green in the center, green frosted cakes and green and white confectionery. Unseen behind a screen of palms and ferns in an alcove a musician made sweet music with his harp. Mrs. and Miss Jenks received and were assisted in the parlors by Mesdames Thomas Peck, Charles W. Watkins, Henry Baker, Knox Putnam and William Robinson and Miss Mary Jenks, of Detroit. Miss Stewart of Union, N. Y. and the Mesdames Gertrude Smith, Ella McQueen and Helen Putnam. Mrs. Jenks wore a handsome costume of green faille silk trimmed with green velvet and white lace. Miss Jenks wore a charming gown of white brocade silk trimmed with green ribbon. Miss Smith wore pale green crepe trimmed with chiffon of the same shade. Miss McQueen wore white and Miss Mary Jenks wore white and gold. Miss Putnam wore a brocade silk, mahogany and green with a green vest. Mrs. Peck wore steel gray silk with cut steel trimmings. Mrs. Robinson wore black silk. Mrs. Baker wore green silk and velvet. Mrs. Watkins wore black silk trimmed with yellow, and Mrs. Putnam wore a brown gown trimmed with fur. The attendance was very large, over three hundred guests calling during the afternoon.

Last Party of the Stuffed Club.
Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mosher of Shelton street concluded the series of ten companies, held during the season, by giving a masquerade ball Friday evening to the club and a few invited friends. The masquerade series was arranged for dancing and excellent music was provided. The costumes were of a great variety from the rags to the elegant. Mr. Frank Goulet, Jr., dressed in a tuxedo suit style, and in full evening dress, admitted the guests at the door. Mr. Mosher was a fine policeman and wielded the famous stuffed club effectively. Mrs. Frank Doble was dressed as an old woman; Mrs. George Schickel as a charming Aunt Sarah, with bonnet of shirred gray silk and the inevitable bandbox; Mrs. James McMillan was a bright eyed gypsy; Mrs. Charles Howard was a cute little girl; Mrs. Frank Coleman and Mrs. W. S. Turner were as lovely housemaids should be, in proper apparel and carrying iron pans; Mrs. Mosher was dressed as a school girl; Miss Grace E. Lee was a charming Columba; Miss Marie Constock was an infantile Ruth Cleveland with a rubber doll; Mrs. Dr. Stevens was a stately Martha Washington; Mrs. A. B. Turner, Jr., was a pretty Yum Yum with a beautiful, genuine Japanese costume from the San Francisco Islands. Mesdames Linton, Hawley, Coleman and Mrs. Stevens were in evening dress and wore masks. The gentlemen represented the following: Mr. Diddle, Captain Mr. C. S. Holt, Spensard, Mr. Rowland, Sam'l of Posen; George Stetson, a Hollander with wooden shoes; W. S. Turner, Ace of Hearts; Mr. Coleman, radio patchwork; Mr. McMillan, Mikado; A. B. Turner, Jr., Postage; Blake Gibson, Knight of Pythias; Dr. S. Sinclair, George Washington; Fred Canfield, Uncle Sam; Mr. O'Brien, a Mexican; Mr. Johnson, Monk. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock and dancing continued until late. Mrs. Mosher was assisted by Mesdames Frank Goulet and F. S. Malin.

Bachelor's Ball.
The bachelors of the Dancing club tendered the club a complimentary hop Monday evening at Hartman's hall. The side of the gallery was decorated with pink and green bunting. At one end of the hall were two immense banks of ferns and palms, between which was a recess furnished with rugs and divans. An orchestra of ten pieces played in the rear of the hall, the music was excellent. Ice cream was served throughout the evening, as was also lemon frappe, which was in a large bowl, tastefully decorated with the prevailing color. There were about forty couples present, the grand march being led by Mr. Charles Fox and Mrs. Dr. Hasletine. The ball was an effective and pleasant ending to a most charming series of parties.

Happy Married.
Miss Sarah Lull, daughter of Mr. H. H. Drury, and Mr. Charles Edward Macrone, manager of Dun's mercantile agency, were married at the residence of her parents, No. 303 South Lafayette street, the Rev. J. B. Hubbs officiating. They left for a brief wedding trip and will be at home after March 15, at No. 33 Thomas street.

Miss Margaret Moore and Prof. Nathan D. Corbin of the State Agricultural College, were happily wedded Wednesday morning by the Rev. A. M. Gould, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm M. Moore, No. 92 Barclay street. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom. Congratulations were wired from Washington and New Haven, Conn. Mr. and Mrs. Corbin left on the noon train for Chicago where they will be the guests of the groom's father, Senator D. Corbin, for a few days.

The Lantern Club.
The Lantern club enjoyed another pleasant evening at progressive pedro Thursday, being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John D. Muir of No. 103 Charles street. Gay colored lanterns hung from the piazza to welcome the guests. Supper was served at 7:30 o'clock, playing continuing from 8:30 to 10:30. Prizes were taken by Mrs. M. B. Church, Mr. James A. Wilson, Mrs. Snow and Mr. Muir. The club entertained Mr. and Mrs. George W. Perry of Bellevue as its guests. Mr. and Mrs. Muir of No. 153 Lake street will entertain the club Thursday evening, March 17.

South End Ladies' Literary Club.
The following subjects occupied the afternoon at the club: "Female Education in Germany" and "The Hebrew Institute of New York." Mrs. Post and Mrs. Muir will have charge of the program for March 8. The printed "Plan of Studies" for the next three months is just out and contains some extremely interesting subjects. The entertainment given February 29 proved a success in every way and the ladies feel quite elated over it.

The Jefferson Avenue Club.
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sears of South Prospect street entertained the Jefferson Avenue club Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock. All the prizes were very handsome and were taken by Mrs. Sidney Hall and Mrs. J. L. Wilkes. Miss Maggie Brown, of Kalamazoo, and Mr. Albert Pruss, of Detroit, were the guests of Mrs. W. S. Gunn. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes will entertain the club a week from next Thursday.

Leap Year Surprise.
About fifty ladies, with their invited gentlemen, perpetrated a pleasant Leap Year surprise upon Mr. Will South of Webster street Friday evening, to commemorate his twenty-fifth birthday. Daunting and progressive pedro occupied the evening, refreshments being served at 11 o'clock. The ladies presented Mr. South with a handsome upholstered chair.

Entertained Her Friends.
Miss Mattie Dole of North Division street, entertained a number of her friends last Friday evening. Among those present were Mesdames Munger, Barclay and Baur, Mrs. Lynch, Miss Forsythe and others. The evening was pleasantly spent in card playing and dancing. Refreshments were served.

The Lotus Club.
The "Lotus" pedro club was very pleasantly entertained at their last party by Alderman Stokes of the Sixth ward. The first prize was captured by Mr. and Mrs. Minor C. Fulton. Mr. and Mrs. Fulton will entertain next.

Gardiner & Baxter.

Nine tables were filled, the prizes being awarded to Mesdames Osterhout, Panting, Barlow and Audie. Refreshments were served at 3 o'clock. The decorations were of wisteria. This is the fifth card party Mrs. Gay has given.

West Side Ladies' Literary.
The program at the West Side club provided by the committee on Grecian history, and embraced the period from 1000 B. C. to 500 B. C. During this period the Spartans established themselves and attained their greatest power. It was also during this period that Greece planted most of her colonies. At this date the social life of Greece was far in advance of that of all other known countries. Polygamy was not practiced and women were allowed many privileges. The Greeks were familiar with the use of the unknown—being the substitute for the latter in their bartering. "A Biography of Leucargus" was next given, in which the great law giver, who lived in the eighth century B. C., was referred to, as the reformer of an old system rather than the creator of a new. Under these laws the citizen belonged to the state. No weak children were permitted to live, and the strong and healthy at the age of seven were removed from the mother and placed under the protecting care of the state to be educated and disciplined. It is such treatment the Spartans became a nation of warriors. "The First Mycenaean War," was the next topic. The cause, the ambition and co-tentness of the Spartans. This war lasted twenty years and the Mycenaeans were at last victorious. After this, the review of the liad was resumed, the principle points being the "Quarrel Between Jupiter and Juno," "Agamemnon Marrying the Princess," and "The Single Combat Between Ajax and Hector," which was followed by a selection from the poem.

Ladies' Literary Club.
The committee on art and literature had charge of the program for the afternoon. The ladies listened with great pleasure to a lengthy paper on art, as interpreted by Balzac on his "Human Comedy." This paper was followed by an animated discussion of several questions evolved from the study of Balzac: "What is the Influence of Environment in Modifying Humanity?" In Other Words, Do We Remain Very Much as We Are Born, or Do Circumstances Make Us?" "Are Thought and Will Natural Forces Like Steam and Electricity?" and "Is it Possible That Love Will Ever Be Discovered for Gen. rating, Storing and Applying Them?" There was so much interest in the discussion that several questions will be taken up another afternoon. The guests of the afternoon were: Miss Emerson of Rockford, Ill.; Mrs. G. M. Davis of Jackson, Miss; Miss Laning, Miss Martha Taylor of Romeo, Mrs. Swift of Waterbury, Conn.; Mrs. E. P. Breckenridge of Toledo, Ohio; Miss Marietta of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Wilkinson of Youngstown, N. Y.

A Children's Theater Party.
The little folks of tender years do not have the opportunity of visiting the theater, as a rule in the evenings. Some time ago the custom or organizing children's box parties for matinee performances was commenced in the east, and at once became popular with society folk. The fact will doubtless soon prevail throughout the country. The idea has already reached Grand Rapids and has become practical. The second party was given here yesterday by little Miss Mabel Pierce who had as companions her friends Mesdames Katherine O'Brien, Flossie Levi and Alice Ball.

Pedro Party.
The Eureka Progressive Pedro club met last night at the residence of Mr. Wm. A. Benke on Madison avenue, and after a hard fought but enjoyable battle, the prizes were carried off by the following: Mrs. L. H. Jacobs and Mr. F. T. Carpenter; bobbies Mrs. F. T. Carpenter and Mr. J. D. McDonald. After refreshments had been served, the spouses retired until midnight spent in dancing.

For Literary Culture.
The young folks of the eastern part of the city have formed a literary society called the Young People's Literary Society of Grand Rapids. They meet at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. Boone, corner of Thomas and Henry streets, Tuesday evening of each week at 7:30 sharp. The following are the officers: President, T. Boone; vice-president, James De Young; secretary, Harry Pelout; treasurer, John Whisman.

Out of Town Reception.
Several of the society people of the city went to Holland yesterday to attend the magnificent reception given by Mrs. Hummer at her home there last evening. Miss Maude Hughes of this city was present and furnished delightful music on the harp for the occasion.

Society Personals.
Miss Cornelia Keesh was happily surprised at her home, No. 91 Mt. Vernon street, Friday evening. The vast was in honor of her twentieth birthday. The evening was spent with cards and dancing, after which refreshments were served. The head prizes were won by Mr. Brander and Miss Ella Waters; the consolation by Mr. John Lane and Miss Daisy Dewey.
